Breaking Through the Generational Barriers

Professional Research

Actual Research: Success is usually measured by results; however, in genealogy success is using correct methodologies, research techniques combined with experience. There is no guarantee of results even with the best researcher, however, a researcher will determine the best approach, which records exist and analyze all the information resulting in valid and sound recommendations for further successful research. TG has 27 years of experience and will provide the best possible positive experience.

Research Structure: Each line contains one (1) family surname called a pedigree line. Each research project will focus on one family surname at a time, of course if multiple families are in the same area, it can be expanded to include those family surnames in that locality.
